

BUCKINGHAM PALACE IS UNDER POLICE GUARD TO PROTECT THE KING

Is convinced that a formidable series of Sinn Fein outbreaks are planned for London and most elaborate precautions are being taken to prevent this scheme from being consummated.

All Government offices are guarded by special armed police, as are the private houses of the Cabinet Ministers. It is said that the information upon which the authorities are working was obtained in the mails, which are now regularly censored, between England, Ireland and Scotland.

Winston Spencer Churchill, Minister of War; Sir Edward Carson, Lord Strickland, the Lord Chancellor, and others who have taken a prominent part in Irish politics are among those now being conveyed by special guards. Threatening letters have been received by some of the opponents of the Government's Irish policy of repression by methods however stern, as well as by the supporters.

IRISH HOME RULE COMPROMISE TALK IN HOUSE OF LORDS

Arrest of Griffith Said to Have Interrupted "Negotiations" With Premier.

LONDON, Dec. 1.—That the arrest of Arthur Griffith, founder of Sinn Fein and Vice President of the "Irish Republic," has interrupted actual negotiations looking to a compromise between Sinn Fein and the British Government is asserted to-day. It is alleged that Lloyd George and Griffith had already exchanged informal messages looking to a solution of the Irish problem, and that the Premier has been seriously embarrassed by the action of Dublin Castle in taking Griffith into custody. However it is said the hope for compromise has not been abandoned, and that this hope is behind several amendments to the pending Home Rule bill which will be offered in the House of Lords before the measure is finally passed. Among the propositions to be made are:

That the bill not become effective until it has been approved by a referendum of the people of Ireland.

That a series of conventions be called, two-thirds of the delegates to be elected in Ireland and one-third of them appointed by Parliament, to consider amendments and redraft the bill to make it acceptable to Ireland.

That Ireland be divided into four historic provinces—Ulster, Leinster, Munster and Connaught—instead of the fictitious partition separating the four Protestant counties. These four historic provinces would then elect four State parliaments, which in turn would choose a small number of members to a national second house.

Mrs. Forefather—For the last ten generations of my family the eldest son has been named Miles Standish.

Mrs. Newcomer—Oh! But you folks must have poor heads for names. My grandfather left eighty-one descendants and we ain't repeated a name once, except now and then John.

MOVE TO CUT OUT ENORMOUS GRAFT IN STATE PRINTING

Proposal to Establish Official Journal to Publish Laws Made in Albany.

(Revised to The Evening World.)

ALBANY, Dec. 1.—Establishment of a State journal and repeal of the statute providing for the publication of the session laws and concurrent resolutions is the purpose of a movement that has gained considerable headway here as a result of the tremendous cost of the State advertising in various newspapers this year.

It aggregated $1,074,315 and it is claimed that the expenditure was absolutely useless, as no one reads the laws and resolutions when printed in newspapers. A State journal would accomplish the desired result much better, it is argued, and would not cost nearly so much. The question has already been brought to the attention of Governor-Elect Nathan L. Miller.

The plan will be bitterly fought by politicians, as many of their local party organs depend for their existence absolutely upon the State printing. They say that Legislators, who get their political support from these newspapers, would not dare to vote for a bill changing the present plan for advertising the session laws.

"Democrats and Republicans alike," said a prominent State official here to-day, "would strike a blow at the very foundation of their political organizations—their party newspapers. How many up-State newspapers with their small circulations and with an almost 100 per cent. political purpose could continue publication if this law was repealed?"

"How many members of the Legislature, having had the backing of these newspapers, would dare to turn about and pass a bill which would inflict injury on these newspapers? There have been bills in the Legislature dealing with this subject before. There was one last year. It was defeated, while another bill increasing the rate paid for this advertising from 75 to 200 per cent. was passed."

URGES $2,000,000,000 AID FOR FARMERS

Gov. Harding Declares His Plan Would Break Deadlock on Products.

HARISBURG, Pa., Dec. 1.—Creation of a United States finance corporation capitalized at $2,000,000,000 to open foreign trade and extend credit to farmers would solve the problem confronting agricultural interests of the country, Governor W. L. Harding of Iowa declared to-day at the governors' conference here.

The corporation would be for the purpose of funding the allied debt, Harding explained. Credit could then be extended farmers who will move their crops in the export trade, he said.

"The plan would break the deadlock now existing on corn, cotton and other products of the farm whereby reason of present exchange conditions and lack of credit abroad, buying power is almost absolutely lacking," he added.

1,725 IMMIGRANTS HERE FROM NAPLES; HOST LEFT BEHIND

Report Multitudes in Southern Europe Awaiting Passage to U. S.

Immigrants to the number of 1,725 arrived in New York to-day on the Fabre liner Providence from Marseilles and Naples, and they report that they left tens of thousands behind, most of whom have been waiting for weeks for steamer accommodations. From what these new arrivals say it would appear that a majority of the population of Southern Europe is desirous of coming to the United States.

Capt. Francois Pavy of the Providence, senior commander of the Fabre line, completed his 101st round trip across the Atlantic with the passage that ended to-day. He will return as a passenger to take up in Marseilles and Naples the duties of Inspector General of the line. During and after the war Capt. Pavy served for five years in the French Navy. He wears thirteen decorations.

Among the passengers were the Right Rev. George A. Guertin, Roman Catholic Bishop of the Diocese of Manchester, N. H., and the Right Rev. Dr. J. F. Buckley, Chancellor of the diocese; the Right Rev. M. P. Fallon, Bishop of London, Ontario, and four Catholic laymen returning from a visit to the Pope. Dr. Fallon went to Ireland also. He had the experience of being hoisted out of his birthplace, Lisburn, by Orangemen. Arnold Allenhoff of Greenwich Village, an author, returning with his wife from a visit to the Balkans. He told of paying the equivalent of $140 a day for three rooms, three servants and meals in a hotel at Revel, Esthonia, but complained about the meals.

The Christmas Spirit in Modern Industry

Effort to reduce exhausting human labor in the factories and workshops, the warehouses, the terminals and on the piers of the city will contribute much to the better spirit of the approaching season. With electric aids and safeguards, industry and commerce are benefited, and with the elimination of exhausting labor and dangerous conditions, employees work with a better spirit and accomplish enhanced results.

There is no darkened condition in shop or factory, which causes poor work, there is no eye strain on an employee, resulting from poor or improper lighting, there is no exhausting human labor in any industry or undertaking, which electric light and power cannot lessen or entirely eliminate.

Experienced representatives are at the disposal of anyone who desires information upon any modern application of electricity to the service of the commerce, the industries and the homes of this city.
